WORLD HAPPENINGS
BRIEFLY TOLD

The Rockefeller Foundation has decided to give $500,000 to the University of Sydney, Australia, for medical research.

The Irish Free State, like Great Britain, gave the European union idea cool treatment in a note responding to Foreign Minister Briand's questionnaire.

British Columbia's lumber industry is holding its export markets better than Washington and Oregon, according to H. R. MacMillan, leading exporter.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce shipped $1,000,000 in gold to Canada, from New York, the first important shipment of the yellow metal across the border since 1927.

Value of building permits issued in 61 Canadian cities during June was $17,939,478, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

"Pure invention" was how Sir Geoffrey Thomas, private secretary to the Prince of Wales, described a story that the Prince plans a United States visit and Canadian "camping holiday" this year.

Seven thousand specimens of poultry from 23 countries, including Canada and the United States, went on exhibit in the Crystal Palace, London, England, for the World's Poultry Show.

To commemorate the action of the 700 Indians who decided to the British crown all land extending west to York, a cairn will be erected at Carrying Place, Prince Edward County, Ontario. A 25-foot plot at the main corner of the village has been chosen as the most suitable location.

The death occurred of James M. Coleman at his residence, 356 Oliver Avenue, Montreal. Mr. Coleman was a well-known figure in railway circles and was the inventor of a new passenger car locking device, which prevents a passenger car from telescoping in a railway collision. He was in his 70th year.

Anxious To Capture
Market In Canada

Australia Makes First Shipment Of Oranges For Distribution

The first shipment of Australian oranges to enter Vancouver, 5,000 cases from Sydney, N.S.W., was unloaded recently for distribution at various points throughout the Dominion.

To capture the Canadian market for Australian orange growers is the aim of the wholesale fruit distributors organization of Sydney, which two months ago sent W. H. Pierce here to pave the way for the drive.

Claiming that the Australian fruit surpasses the best from the United States, the fruit growers of New South Wales believe that their product will quickly win a large share of the market that the United States producers now enjoy.

Banded Bird Law

Co-Operation With Proper Authorities Is Required

It is important that any person who finds a banded bird report the fact to the National Parks of Canada Branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, giving the species of the bird, band number, date and locality of occurrence, and information as to whether the bird was found dead, was killed, or was released alive still wearing its band. Persons reporting banded birds will be informed promptly respecting the place and time of banding.

Novel Attempt To Escape From Prison

Robber Serving Sentence In Sing Sing Served Up In Mattress

A novel method of attempting escape from Sing Sing prison was uncovered when guards found Jack Levy within a mattress made in the prison factory. Levy, small and middle-aged, almost got away with it. He would now be on his way to freedom but for the curiosity of Victor Brown, keeper-chef, who thought a pile of mattresses on his truck looked suspiciously lob-sided although it had been twice inspected by other guards.

Brown summoned Principal Keeper Sheehy and a search was instituted. Sheehy ripped open one misshapen mattress and discovered Levy. Levy had a razor with which to cut his way out, and a hammer. The robber will be sent to Clinton prison, Dannemore, N.Y. His attempted escape will put back his earliest possible date of release to 1932. Levy was sewed into the mattress from the outside. His accomplice has not been found.

Tuning Out Noise

Idea Of Scientist, If Carried Out, Would Be Soon To World

A person is in an office that looks out on a busy street, and traffic is roaring past him, normal speech inaudible. He touches a switch and the noise fades away to nothing. The traffic is still streaming past, but one cannot hear a sound. That is the promise made by a well-known scientist, Dr. James Robinson. Dr. Robinson's idea is that sound waves might be "tuned out" in the same way as we get rid of unwanted broadcasting stations on our wireless set. Special apparatus built into the walls of a building will "trap" the sound waves and in this way we really shall get silence. Every day the mechanical world in which we live gets noisier and noisier.

Patrol Northern Highway

Mounted Policemen To Watch Traffic On Prince Albert National Park Road

Mounted Police in Saskatchewan assumed a new role when a member of the scarlet coated force heads northward from Prince Albert recently on a brand new motorcycle to inaugurate the system of patrols on the Prince Albert National Park Highway. Speedsters will have to watch their step in the future, for if they exceed thirty miles an hour the mountie may get them and then a fine up to the maximum of $100 awaits the offenders on conviction.

Other regulations to be enforced require motorists to keep on the right of an imaginary line down the centre of the highway, to make sure his vision to the rear and to each side is not obstructed and not to catch up and pass another vehicle at a blind curve.

Heavily loaded trucks with loads protruding beyond the sides of the vehicle will be required to pull well out to the side and stop if necessary to permit an approaching vehicle to pass. There are no set hours for the patrol, but it will be maintained throughout the day, and at times when traffic is particularly heavy. The mounted policeman astride his motorcycle will be seen at night slipping along the highway to check up on reckless drivers.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

PEANUT BRITTLE APPLES

Six large tart apples; one-fourth teaspoon salt; three-fourths pound peanut brittle; and four tablespoons lemon juice are required. Spread thinly sliced apples over the bottom of a baking dish. Sprinkle with salt, place a layer of peanut brittle on top, and repeat until all the apples and candy are used. Pour lemon juice over top layer of apples before adding the last layer of brittle. Bake in a slow oven at 325 degrees for one hour.

PINEAPPLE ORANGE SPONGE

1 package orange flavored gelatin.
1 cup boiling water.
1 cup pineapple juice and cold water.
1 cup shredded pineapple, drained.
Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add pineapple juice and cold water. Chill. When slightly thickened, beat with rotary egg beater until of consistency of whipped cream. Fold in pineapple. Turn into molds. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serves 8.

Wit and Philosophy

Puns are not always properly attributed to their original carrier. Possibly because puns have been condemned as the lowest form of wit. But some are worthy to live. Here is one which sums up whole systems of philosophy, but it was originally aimed at George Berkeley's (1685-1753) veneration regarding matter and mind: "What is mind? No matter. What is matter? Never mind!"—Christian Science Monitor.

The Modern Maid

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
AUGUST 3

NAOMI AND RUTH

Golden Text: "And He made of us every nation of men to dwell on all the face of the earth."—Acts 17: 26.

Lesson: The Book of Ruth. Devotional Reading: Isaiah 61: 1-7.

Explanations and Comments

The Beginning Of The Story, 1: 1-15.—In the days of the Judges there was a famine in the land of Canaan, and to escape it a Bethlehemite, Elimelech, and his wife Naomi, and their two sons, left their home and settled in Moab across the Jordan. The Jews have a legend to the effect that Elimelech was of a princely house, a descendant of Amminadab, the father-in-law of Aaron, that he was wealthy, and left the country in the time of famine in order to preserve his wealth intact, for he was afraid of being beggared by his starving brethren.

In Moab the two sons married daughters of that alien land, Ruth and Orpah. Ten years passed, father and sons found their graves there, and Naomi, now poor, whatever she had been in Bethlehem, determined to return to her native land. Fares seldom take place in the home in eastern lands, and Ruth and Orpah carried out the usual custom when they accompanied Naomi a short distance on her way. When Naomi kissed them she bade them return to their homes and let her go on her way alone.

Ruth's Great Decision, 2: 1-18.—Though it grieved Orpah to part with her mother-in-law, she kissed her and returned to her home. Naomi urged her to do, Ruth, however, clung to Naomi. With all her power Naomi urged her to return to her home, but Ruth refused. "Behold," she said, "thy sister-in-law is gone back unto her people, and unto her god (Chemoab); return thou after thy sister-in-law." In answer Ruth uttered those beautiful words which have become so famous through the ages: "Entreat me not to leave thee, and to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God." The ancient belief was that each people had its own god, and that in going to another land one must necessarily serve the god of that land; compare 1 Samuel 26: 19.

"Ruth was a Moabitess, of an accursed race, who according to the law of Moses was not allowed to enter the congregation of the covenant. What this story finally teaches that no such disability remains when faith in God is exercised, we must not forget the difficulty as it existed for Ruth: how the people would be likely to look at her, how she herself, as she came into contact with the religion of the Hebrew people, would realize the greatness of her distance. Again, there was nothing calculated to allure her from the standpoint of material prosperity. Those she had known of the people of Jehovah had been compelled to leave their land on account of famine. From them she knew of the perils of those who had remained in the land, and all the sadness of their condition. She came back with Naomi into poverty, and to people who in all probability were hostile to them both."—G. Campbell Morgan.

"Large is the life that flows from other's sakes; Expends its best, its noblest effort makes; Devotion rounds the man and makes him whole; Love is the measure of the human soul."—James Buchanan.

Captain Sherlock Has

Newest Air Record

Flew Mail Plane 1,500 Miles In One Day Making Five Stops

Record achievements in the air are just part of the day's work in the north country. The newest feat, unheralded almost among the brilliant exploits of the sub-Arctic fliers, is that of Captain W. N. Sherlock, Commercial Airways pilot. Less than a day he flew the mail from Fort McMurray, in northern Alberta, to Atkavik, on the topmost rim of Canada—some 1,500 miles—making five delivery stops en route.

Son of Sir Francis and Lady Sherlock, Irton Hall, Cumberland, England, Captain Sherlock is a former member of the Royal Air Force. He has seen war and peace-time service in France, India, Egypt, and Mesopotamia. Before joining the Commercial Airways, he was a member of the flying staff of Dominion Explorers.

On the morning of June 26, at 5:45 o'clock, Captain Sherlock took off from Fort McMurray air base, flying a Bellanca Pacemaker. Less than 21 hours later, at 2:25 o'clock the next morning, with the midnight sun casting its twilight glow, he landed the mail at Atkavik, within the Arctic circle. On his way, he made postal deliveries at Fort Resolution, Fort Simpson, Fort Norman, Fort McPherson and Arctic Red River along the rushing Mackenzie River.

Captain Sherlock's flight—just one of the records set up by fearless aviators—was a record for the fastest mail delivery in the north—was the first one-day flight from Alberta to Atkavik.

When Aviators Trespass

Judge Rules People Own Air Five Hundred Feet Up

Aviators must fly at least 500 feet high to avoid trespassing on property over which they pass, Federal Judge George F. Hays of Cleveland, Ohio, ruled in a precedent setting decision.

The decision was on a bill of complaint brought a year ago by two suburban property holders against the Curtiss Airport Corporation, the Ohio Air Terminals Company and the Curtiss Flying Service.

The complaint cited the ancient Roman legal principle, "Whoever encroaches land controls by it the centre of the earth to the zenith," and sought an "order" restraining "planes to pass over the property."

Judge Hays ruled that the "effective possession" of such property extends only 500 feet up.

CHAPTER XXI—Continued

Long after she had read the letter a second time and put it safely away in prospect of a third personal part of it kept coming back to her, such as: "You ask why I should be inarticulate with you, 'of all people.' I've sometimes wondered about that myself. Ask Grandma. Perhaps out of the wisdom of years she can explain that foolish self-consciousness on my part. . . . And lower down: 'Of course I wasn't mad—not even hurt, just a little sore, maybe. . . . I knew that deep down inside you didn't think me a shynack anyhow—you just didn't understand. . . . So it was the dear old doctor who gave me away?' . . . And near the end: 'How's your boarder?' According to Lizzie Baker he's about to settle down with a lady of my acquaintance for better, for worse, etc.; only in this case it would be a great deal better than he, or any other man deserves. If this happens to be idle gossip, Charnian, please pass the word along soon. Yours always, Jim."

"What was Jim Carter, counting the girl from her reverie, 'was it satisfactory?'"

"You mean?" questioned Charnian as they started back.

"I refer to the letter I was good enough to bring you," he replied.

She laughed happily.

"More than satisfactory. It took a load off my contrite mind. You see, John, I said something mean and hateful to Jim Bennett before he went away. I didn't intend to be unkind; but I was, terribly. Now it's straightened out and . . . "God's in His heaven!" quoted the doctor as she hesitated.

"You're a marvellous understanding soul," she answered. "That's exactly the way I feel, only I didn't think to express myself through Browning."

He smiled, drew up under a lonely tree and stopped the car.

"Trouble?" asked Charnian, thinking of the engine.

"I hope not!" he replied. "Then his face grew serious and he turned to her. 'Charnian,' he began, 'now that you've digested that letter—got your mind cleared on the subject, in a way, I've something to tell you. Wait till this automobile passes, and the approaching automobile didn't pass. It stopped, and Ezra Bascomb's familiar face peered at them from behind the windshield.

"Hi, Doc!" he greeted. "One of Lusia Moore's twins is took down with appendicitis. Doctor Howe says you should hurry right along to the deacon's. He's waitin' for you there."

"Thanks," shouted John Carter as Ezra, who was evidently in haste, sped on. Then he turned again to the girl beside him, and added ruefully: "Like tide and time, appendicitis waits for no man. It's our confidential conversation that must wait. Do you mind if I drop you at the church? I ought to hurry."

CHAPTER XXII

Where's the doctor?" questioned Grandma, who was surprised to see the girl arrive on foot.

Charnian explained, while the old lady uttered an ejaculation.

"Dear me! Appendicitis!" and the deacon's face, which just had brightened, turned to a frown.

Lizzie Baker told me the whole story. Maybe this trouble will bring 'em together again, though it's like as not to drive 'em farther apart, seeing as their last quarrel was over a love match. Well, dearie, you got your letter, didn't you? Did Jimmy tell you what his mother's up and down?"

Charnian laughed, tossed the old coat on a chair and kissed her grandmother.

"He told me everything. I was silly to get worked up. Grandma. Of course Jim wasn't angry. He wrote as soon as he got my letter. Here."

Charnian handed the envelope, which she had taken from her pocket and tossed it into Grandma's lap. "There's nothing in it that you can't see. It's a darling letter."

"You read it out loud, dearie," Grandma smiled, noting with the faintest of a frown that the girl looked her usual self again. "There's no hurry about supper with the doctor, old hunting an appendix. I told you that Jim wasn't the boy to bear a grudge. You sit with your feet over the register, Charnian, and get warmed up while you read to me."

Charnian was only too glad to obey, and her grandmother was an attentive audience.

"That sounds most as if Jim was talking, doesn't it?" she commented when the letter was finished. "Read again what he says about his mother. She and Sophie always did look as alike as two peas; but that's where the resemblance ends. George K. used to say that Sophie (who was born half an hour ahead of Sarah), took all the unattractiveness there was, and didn't leave any for her twin! George was always a little hard on Sarah because he felt she ruined James Bennett's life. What was it Jim said about them, dearie?"

Charnian found the place and read: "I feel as if I had two mothers all of a sudden. It's a weird sensation, coming into a room and not being sure whether you're confronting your mother or your aunt? Joking aside, the resemblance is really startling. Till you get used to it. And how they love each other! Seeing them together has made me wish I had a twin—some one who'd understand me the way Mother and Aunt Sophie seem to understand each other. As for this ranch business—"

"He didn't say, did he," broke in Grandma, "whether he's going to run the farm for 'em? Seems if those two women were pretty old to start any such a thing. Sarah Bennett married late in life. She can't be a day under fifty-six, nor Sophie either."

"Well, naturally," laughed Charnian, "considering that they're twins! No, Jim didn't mention that part of it."

"Nor say what they'd do with the Wickfield house," went on Grandma, exasperated at this oversight. "Men are terribly unsatisfactory about details. I remember a parish meeting thirty-odd years ago when there was an awful fight. I was sick with a cold and couldn't go; and will you believe it, when your grandfather came home all he said was that 'there seemed to be a little unpleasantness.' He never so much as mentioned how Edgar Purdie shook his fist in the face of the parish clerk (it was Emma Bascomb's father and as meek a little man as ever lived), and went off screaming the doctor behind him; or how Mrs. Garfield got so excited she had hysteria right in the vestry and had to be carried out. I never heard a word about it till next day when Lizzie Baker ran over to borrow a yeast cake. I wonder, chippy, if Jim is coming back to Wickfield."

"And leave his mother running a fruit ranch!" gasped Charnian. "If Jim ever does a thing like that, Grandma, I'll look for the end of the world. It's a wonder Mrs. Bennett let him go to San Francisco that week without her. Oh, dear! how can a woman with a nice son like Jim be such a tyrant?"

"I've been thinking that maybe Sophie will see how the land lies, and give Sarah a good talking to," replied Grandma. "Sarah'll take from her what she wouldn't take from anybody else, even James Bennett, and in her own way she loved him, too. Mrs. Merry was in a minute after she'd left, Charnian. She said to tell you they'd had a long letter from Madge, and that the baby'd got another tooth. It does seem strange to think of Madge having a baby, doesn't it? It makes you seem like an old woman."

"An old maid," suggested Charnian, rising. "You may as well get used to the idea, Grandma. An old maid schoolma'am who—"

"Shucks!" interrupted Grandma with indignation. "I guess you don't need to be an old maid unless you want to! What are you going to tell Jimmy about that idle gossip he'd heard talk of?"

Charnian laughed, but she flushed also, and answered: "I think I'll forget that question. Grandma. It's none of his business."

"I guess he thinks 'tis," responded Grandma wisely, then with a sudden change of subject: "I wish you'd make milk toast for supper, dearie. Seems as if I'd sort of relish it to-night and he's got to leave soon."

"The doctor'll be home late, and most frozen, night like this. Look here, Charnian," she added as the girl turned toward the kitchen, "I didn't understand what Jim meant by saying he'd appoint you his deputy in the matter of Towser and Mouser."

"That was merely a bit of sentiment," smiled Charnian. "I'll explain about it later, but now I must hurry with our meal. You want a lamp, Grandma? It's almost dark."

"No, chippy. I like to sit here this time of day, and see the lights come on in the kitchen windows, and watch folks hurrying home to supper. Sometimes I can't make out who they are, but I always know they're glad the day's work is done and they're going home. Many's the time I've sat here in the twilight with your grandfather and watched the 'shadows of the evening steal across the sky,' as the vesper hymn says. I'm never lonesome this time of day as some folks are. I guess it makes me feel the way you felt one night when you were just a mite of a thing and I was putting you to bed. Your mother'd been in the habit of leaving a light turned low in the hall outside your door—sort of to keep you company; but that night she was at a church supper and after you said your prayers I sat down on your little bed and repeated the twenty-third psalm."

"I can see you now, looking up at me so soberly and listening to every word like a grown-up. Well, I kissed you, and gave the bedclothes a last tuck, and said: 'Good-night, chippy. I'll leave the light, same as Mother does,' and what do you suppose you answered? You said, 'Just as solemn as anything.' No, Grandma. The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want—'light!"

"Oh, Grandma!" cried the girl, as she visioned the little Charnian of long ago. "You never told me that before!"

"Didn't I? Well, I've thought of it enough times, goodness knows. It came into my mind the minute you asked if I'd like a lamp. You see, dearie, I'm not afraid of the twilight even though it's a time of memories. . . . The Lord is my shepherd. I shall not want—a light."

Mystery Of Name Origins

Romance and History Lie Behind Modern Surnames

There's a lot of romance and history in the name-plates on your neighbors' doors. Many of them open windows on a vanishing world.

Most people too busy to think about the names which they have used all their lives. Yet nearly every name in use today has a very long history and a very picturesque origin, says the name of "Lawson."

In the early days, when Europe was the home, not of nations, but of tribes, there were no surnames. Men embodied in their names the qualities they admired and sought.

Take the name of Mr. Baldwin, the Conservative leader, for example. It is very old, and comes from two Teutonic words: bald, meaning "bold," and wine, meaning "friend."

Hence, "Bold Friend."

Surnames, properly speaking, were not common in England, even in the fourteenth century. But most men had nicknames. Many of these nicknames stuck, passed on from son to son, and are current today. Thus, Goodfellow, Hog, Logman, Little, Dark, and so on.

A quaint instance of such a surname may be found in the Nottingham Borough Record. It is "Overandover," the first Overandover was long-winded!

Surnames proper came in when the population increased to such an extent that they were necessary to obviate confusion. Trades, crafts, looms and hereditary virtues, often determined them.

The queer surnames sometimes given to foundlings can be ascribed to this source—a churlish beadle, speaking the first name that comes into his head, or a Mr. Bumble following an alphabetical system and giving a surname to suit the fancies of each little victim. It was in this way that Oliver Twist received his immortal name.

Ice Hockey In August

Entertainment For Delegates To British Medical Association

Summertime in Winnipeg will be transformed into frigid winter to provide atmosphere for the hundreds of distinguished medical men who will gather there from all parts of the Empire for the British Medical Association convention. Ice will be laid in the amphitheatre rink for the week August 24-30 in order that the Winnipeg Skating Club and two picked teams of local star material, may take the fancy skating and hockey exhibitions for the visitors.

An Indian pageant has also been arranged for entertainment of the doctors. Some 75 Crees and Assiniboine Indians will perform in horse racing and trick riding. As a mark of honor, shared by H.R.H. Prince of Wales, Lord Dawson of Penn, physician to His Majesty King George, will be inducted as a Cree chief.

The Oil Of The People—Many of them have come and gone, but Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil continues to maintain its position and increase its sphere of usefulness each year. Its sterling qualities have brought it to the front and kept it there, and it can truly be called the oil of the people. Thousands have benefited by it and would use no other preparation.

A Clever Idea Ingenious swindlers seem to be without number. A new fountain pen swindle was exposed in London. Pens priced about $2, but worth 30 cents, were mailed to persons whose obituaries had just been printed in the newspapers. In most cases the executors of the estates thought the dead persons had ordered the pen and paid without comment.

Would Help Farmers The Agricultural Council points out that the cup of coffee given to every German regular army man each morning has to be imported and suggests instead that the army drink milk for breakfast, thus increasing farm income.

The man who won a big pool in a horse race had his name in the papers. The papers aren't big enough to publish the names of all the losers.

Turkey expects bounteous crops this year.

WHOLE FAMILY HAD DYSENTERY

Dysentery is one of the worst forms of bowel complaint and should be checked at once as its termination often proves fatal.

Mrs. H. F. Stewart, Fiddlers, Sask., writes: "Two years ago we were all very bad with attacks of dysentery. My husband got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and after taking three or four doses we were completely relieved. Since then we have never been without a bottle of it in the house."

Canadian Goods In British Daily Life

Always Something To Remind People Of Dominion's Products

"What the future holds for Canadian products in the United Kingdom can be judged in the light of today," said Douglas S. Cole, B.Sc., Canadian Trade Commissioner, at Bristol, England, in an interview at Toronto. "The modern Englishman can rise in the morning from a Canadian-made bed on to a Canadian carpet, latter himself with a Canadian shaving brush and Canadian shaving cream, shave with a Canadian razor, come down to breakfast and eat Canadian cereals, Canadian bacon, Canadian eggs, and toast made from Canadian flour, all cooked on a Canadian gas or electric range, and kept wholesome in a Canadian refrigerator, the while he reads a newspaper printed on Canadian paper. He can drive in a Canadian car to an office equipped with Canadian furniture, dictate letters on Canadian paper, which he signs with a Canadian fountain pen. He reduces his weight by a Canadian exercise machine, plays racquets in Canadian rubber shoes, tries to look graceful on Canadian skates, and drives his doctor to starvation with Canadian apples."

Dust Causes Asthma. Even a little speck small as to see will lead to agonies which no words can describe. The walls of the breathing tubes contract and it seems as if the very life must pass. From this condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy restores the user to perfect rest. It relieves the passages and normal breathing is firmly established again. Hundreds of testimonials received annually prove its effectiveness.

Machine Matches Colors Newest Invention Will Be More Exact Than Skilled Matchers

In France, wax-tapers up winners. In Canada, they tell them, whether the fluid is bound for a plebeian cafe or a gentleman's cellar. Were it not for whiskey-tasters England's famous blenders would be unable to produce a uniformly good product year in, and year out. On equally skilled men depend the fact that all vermillion dyes are uniform, that azure settles and settles, that blue of the color-matcher's eyes, which tripe quickly, make them expensive to their employers.

A new machine, on the market, will doubtless throw scores of color matchers out of work. It will perform their function with more exactness, will cost less and, biggest advantage of all, it will not depend on daylight for its accuracy. The heart of the machine, invented by New York University's able young physicist, Dr. Harold Horton Sheldon, is Light reflected from two samples a photometric cell.

Of the same cloth placed in the machine, passes into the cell, gives an electrical impulse which is indicated by a galvanometer. The indicator hand is then set at zero, the unknown sample is introduced. If the hand again points to zero the match is perfect. If it varies to the right the sample is too dark, to the left, too light. A variation of three-calibrated scale divisions is considered a passable match.

Obeeyed Instructions The master impressed on his pupils the need of thinking before speaking, told them to count fifty before saying anything important, and one hundred if it was very important.

Next day he was speaking, standing with his back to the fire, when he noticed several lips moving rapidly.

Suddenly the whole class shouted: "Ninety-eight, ninety-nine, a hundred. Your coat's on fire, sir!"

Perfectly Safe When the guest was just leaving his hotel to hurry to the station, he noticed that he had forgotten something. He ran to the page-boy: "Run up quickly to room 456, and just see if my umbrella is there. I think it's to the left of the washstand. But hurry up!"

A minute later the boy returned and said: "Yes, sir, the umbrella's still there, at the left of the washstand."

Little Helps For This Week

"Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?"—Luke x. 25.

I do not ask that Thou wilt bless With gifts of heavenly sort my day, So much as that my hands may dress The borders of my lowly way.

With constant deeds of good and right, Thereby reflecting heavenly light.

—Alice Cary.

Good deeds will shine as the stars in heaven.—Thomas Chalmers.

Good deeds are very fruitful; out of one good action of ours the Lord produces a thousand, and the harvest whereof is perpetual.—Bishop Hall.

Miller's Worm Powders are a pleasant medicine for worm-infested children, and they will take it without objection.

When directions are followed it will not injure the most delicate of children, and it is free from an injurious nature in its composition. They will speedily rid a child of worms and restore the health of the little sufferers whose vitality has been impaired by the attacks of these internal pests.

Signatures On The Roof

Copper Plates On Stockholm Town Hall Bear Name Of Donor

Ragnar Ostberg, who has just been made a Royal Academician, is probably the most famous architect in Europe. His fame rests largely on the wonderful town hall which he designed for his native Stockholm, and which has been inspected by visitors from all over the world. It cost nearly a million pounds to build and it was decorated by a remarkable team of artists, which included a prince of the Royal House. The roof is composed of copper and plaster, and is inscribed with the name of the citizen who paid for it, and the floor of one of the magnificent halls was made by the workmen, on their own initiative, out of old pieces of marble left over from other building operations.

Utilities Show Profit The City of Regina utility showed a new surplus according to the statement of S. B. Nelles, city comptroller, of $131,674 for the first five months of 1930, after deducting administration charges of $7,083, while the Electric Light and Power Department showed a surplus revenue of $139,507, the Water Department, a profit of $11,391, and the Street Railway, a deficit of $2,140.

A remarkable feature of the 1929 forest fire situation in Manitoba and Saskatchewan was that, first occurred, and were fought in every month of the calendar year.

CHILDREN CRY FOR IT—CHILDREN have to take medicine as a rule, but even old love the taste of Castor.

And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and just as harmless as the recipe reads.

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea.

When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. Invade or children's diseases, you should use it to keep the system from clogging.

Castoria is sold in every drugstore; the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.

TRY THIS PLAN

If you are really set on doing some good deed, why not give attention to giving or finding work for those who are unemployed. Many deserving people are walking the streets of our cities these days and many of them can be made happy by being put to work on the odd jobs that we have put off from time to time. Look around, plan a little and see if there isn't a job for someone. It may be found in your office, in your store, in your factory, in your home or yard—whatever and wherever it is, if it is a job it will be a great boon to someone. Try this, and build a little happiness for a man or woman who has had a bunch of hard luck.

THE NATURE-LOVER

I love the wood, I love the hills,
I love the good old sturdy hills.
I love the trees, their restful shade
Beneath the leaves, the best of 'em made.
I love the gentle breeze that blows,
As through the rustling leaves it goes.
I love to wander far at dawn,
When yonder moon and stars are gone.
I love to loiter in a dell,
Where many a timid wood-folk dwell;
To loiter around in sun or shade,
And watch them play, all unafraid.
I love the water, lake or bay,
Where o'er, duck and swans play.
For here, where all wild Nature blends,
I and all creatures are good friends.
I care not for men's selfish ways—
Here, with Nature, I'll end my days.
—Sam. S. Sherman.

INLAND PETE DISCOVERY
SPURS INTEREST IN RED COULEE

LETHBRIDGE, July 25.—In the Red Coulee field the success of Inland Petroleum, financed by a group of Crown's Nest Pass and Eastern British Columbia men, headed by A. M. Morrison, of Coleman, and Arthur Denison, of Lethbridge, is stiffening interest in the border field, and groups are already finding it easier to get money for oil enterprises. The well came in with an estimated flush production of between 200 and 225 barrels, and although it is likely the settled production may be somewhat reduced, oil men who visited the well yesterday consider it a very nice producer. The well offsets Rice-Ridgway No. 1, and J. W. Elliott was the drilling contractor.

On the Canadian side of the border field, Southern Alberta Exploration No. 1 is continuing oil shipments to the Imperial Oil Company, deliveries to date averaging 2,500 barrels. The company is getting $1.65 a barrel for crude, which is testing 31.7 gravity Beaume. Vanalia No. 2 has been fitted up with a permanent rig and this well also be done at "Sax" as the derrick will be skidded for the No. 2 well. The Taylor syndicate well, off-lying Vanalia No. 2, is at 1,600 feet, and Capital No. 1, Red Coulee, will drill out the cement bridge and carry the hole into the line. J. C. Dallas, president of the Dalco company, recently visited Dalco No. 1 and watched drilling operations.

Micky McLean was elected in East Kootenay with a large majority over Frank Guimont, his Liberal opponent.

An unavoidable accident, says a critic, is one where all the members of the summer's jury have cars, too.

CAIS ASSIST RURAL SCHOOLS

Improvements in roads and in efficiency and comfort of motor vehicles have brought immeasurable benefit to rural school pupils in Canada, but pupils' transportation has not yet been reduced to a systematic business basis with government assistance. This, however, seems to be an inevitable development, in view of the success of assisted pupil transportation in parts of the United States. A recent bulletin from the U. S. Bureau of Education says that transportation continues to be a necessary and growing factor in school administration. There has been a considerable advance in recent years in the cost accounting systems used by districts providing transportation. Approximately one-third of the States of the union now grant aid specifically for pupil transportation.

AVOID STAGNATION

The inlet of a man's mind is what he learns; the outlet is what he accomplishes. If his mind is not fed by a continued supply of new ideas which he puts to work with purpose, and if there is no outlet in action, his mind becomes stagnant. Such a mind is a danger to the individual who owns it and is useless to the community.—Jeremiah W. Jenk.

A GENUINE TOAST

For oppositeness, eloquence and wit this toast to "Coal," proposed at a recent function in the United States, may well be acclaimed a noteworthy achievement. "Coal—the greatest boon of a generous Creator to mankind. I have seen it under the alchemy of science, transmuted into thousands of new and useful forms—fuel for metallurgy and the fabrication of metals, heat for the fireside, light for the darkness, energy for the gas engine, motion for the locomotive, power for the factory, fertilizer for plants, ice for refrigeration, fungicides and germicides for sterilization and fumigation, a solvent for shellac, a preservative for wood, a cleanser for cloth, an antiseptic for wounds, poisons for parasites and bus, medicine for man and beast, flavoring for food and confections, and scent for perfumes and cosmetics.

"Thus, through human touch, I have seen it become, comfort in the home or death at the battlefield, and yield a corrosive acid that burns like fire or a sweetness that makes sugar seem insipid. I have seen it transformed into colors that make the rainbow envious of their brightness and variety; and I have seen it harnessed into explosives that make the thunderbolt jealous of their power.

NATURALISTS FIND RARE
BIRDS IN JASPER
NATIONAL PARK

The nesting grounds of four rare birds, the timberline sparrow, the golden crowned sparrow, the Arctic horned lark and the rose finch, were found recently within an area of one square mile in an alpine meadow above Malgine Lake by members of the American Nature Association at present in Jasper Park. Hamilton Laing, Canadian Government Naturalist accompanying the party, described the find as unique and one of ornithological interest.

CLEVELAND BISHOP TALKS TO VATICAN OVER PHONE

Cleveland, July 16.—It was the privilege of Joseph Schrembs, of the Cleveland Catholic diocese, to be the first person in Cleveland to talk to the Vatican, Vatican City. The conversation between the Cleveland Bishop and Monsignor Joseph Pizzardo, secretary of state for foreign affairs at the Vatican, took place from noon until 12:04 p.m. The set up was arranged by the Bell Telephone Company. The connection was via long distance from here to New York, wireless to London; submarine cable across the channel, overland to Rome, Rome to Vatican City. The distance between Cleveland and Vatican City is approximately 4,700 miles. Several preliminary talks were necessary before Bishop Schrembs was able finally to begin his conversation, in French, with Monsignor Pizzardo. The Bishop sat at his private telephone in his office, 605 Guarantee Title Building. With the Bishop's permission, several newspapermen heard the conversation.

"The conversation gave me a real thrill," the Bishop said in speaking of the experience at its conclusion. "Monsignor Pizzardo's voice was as distinct as if he were within a few feet of me and he assured me that he heard me perfectly."

WEST CANADIAN OFFICIALS
PICNIC AT HENDERSON LAKE

Officials of the West Canadian Collieries Limited, Bellevue, held their annual outing and picnic on Sunday last at Henderson Lake, Lethbridge. A large number availing of the trip cars left Bellevue at 9 a.m. After lunch at the grounds, the interesting ceremony of baptizing and christening of several converts to the faith at the lake took place. After supper, group photos were taken of the ladies, in which G. Coupland and J. Shevels tried to creep in, but unsuccessfully. Then, group photos of the men were in order.

In the sports event, the following were winners: three-legged race, Mrs. Hallworth and Sam Richards; wheelbarrow race, Louis Pozzi; married ladies' race, Mrs. E. Royle; skipping contest, Mrs. Prescott. There was no married ladies' wheelbarrow race, greatly to the disappointment of Walter Warn.

When darkness came, everybody retired to their respective huts and tents to sleep, but someone commenced to broadcast hymns, etc., keeping all awake. Fred Padgett, Joe Shevels and John Ditto were suspected for this unseemly trick. The party returned to Bellevue in time to vote on Monday.

The officials in charge of the sports were: Walter Warn, announcer; Albert Hallworth, cashier; "Doc" McLeod, starter; Ed. Royle, fixer-up; Fred Padgett, ice cream custodian and drink collector; Joe Shevels and Jim Radford, judges; Bill Prosser and Wilf Berry, skipping rope surgeons; George Goodwin, Jack Longworth and George Coupland, prop.

Seventy-five men, women and children took in the trip.

THE CONSERVATIVE POLICY

"1. We pledge ourselves to a policy of protection for Canadians in the development of our national resources, agricultural and industrial, to save the consumer from exploitation.

"2. We pledge ourselves to foster and develop the agricultural, live stock and dairy industries, now so badly neglected.

"3. We pledge ourselves to the stabilization of economic conditions, and to continuity of trade and freedom from the manipulation of home and foreign tariffs.

"4. We pledge ourselves to the development of interprovincial trade, and of a Canadian fuel policy, and development of a foreign market.

"5. We pledge ourselves to the improvement of the whole scheme of Canadian transportation northward by the completion of the Hudson Bay route and the construction of such branches as may be necessary to render it most readily available to every part of Canada; to the Pacific slope by a Peace River outlet, and east and west by the development of the St. Lawrence waterways, and we pledge ourselves to aid existing traffic channels and to increase port facilities on the Great Lakes, Hudson Bay and the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, and to the establishment of a national highway system.

"6. We pledge ourselves to foster and support a plan for greater Empire trade, based on mutual advantage.

"7. We pledge ourselves to a national old age pensions scheme.

"8. We pledge ourselves to such compensation adjustment as will ensure the benefit of the above policies to every part of Canada."—New Glasgow Free Lance.

THE PASS FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
(The Blaimore Enterprise, 1914)

Sept. 18.—Word has just been received of the death of W. Barrington

Reilly, vice-president and managing director of the Rocky Mountains Cement Company, at the age of 44. He was also president of the British Canadian Oils and secretary-treasurer of the Al Azhar Temple Company, Calgary.

One of the German prisoners at Sydney, Nova Scotia, states that the Kaiser is a "beeg dam fool."

The Canadian government has accepted the offer of the William Nelson Limited, Toronto, of 65,000 bars of chocolates for use in whatever manner the government should choose. The chocolates will be shipped to Valcartier, to be transported with the Canadian communitarian to Europe. The several hundred members of the Neilson staff have also donated one full day's pay to the Canadian Red Cross Fund.

Jack Oliphant, of Bellevue, landed a seven-pound trout from the North Fork river.

The following elogy to the Kaiser and his fool efforts has just been published:

"Meinself von summer's day vent
— cutt

To play at var all roundabout,
Und Eurob delis toy toys to roudt
— Meinself, und Gott!

Meinself I chased der Russian Bear,
Und Froze's leg I too did tear.

The stork paid a visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Barham at Bellevue on Friday morning, leaving them a daughter.

September 25.—A branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund was organized in Blaimore during the week, with the following officers: J. W. Graham, president; C. E. F. Hiscock, secretary; T. B. George, treasurer. The committee comprises: F. M. Pinkney, H. H. Tait, Rev. M. P. Roquin, Rev. Father Beaton, Mayor Lyon and Rev. J. F. Hunter. The speaker for the occasion was Hon. W. A. Buchanan, of Lethbridge.

The editor of the Coleman Bulletin this week remarked: "There appears to be a lot of people in Blaimore who like Coleman, or anything that emanates therefrom, about as much as the devil likes holy water."

A new daughter has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Litherland at Bellevue. A daughter arrived also at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cummings.

And a further elogy on the Kaiser has appeared:

"Dadt partnership mit me und Gott

CORBIN HAPPENINGS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Mr. J. Taylor moved his family to Corbin during the week. They have taken up residence at house number 4, on the front row. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were former residents of Coal Creek.

Mrs. (Dr.) Elliott took a party of girls on a very enjoyable trip to Fernie during the early part of the week. The lucky girls were: Misses Betty Elliott, Peggy Gibson, Marie Almond and Edith Murphy.

A son was born on Thursday last to Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Crawford, at the Fernie hospital.

Mrs. W. Almond, accompanied by her daughters, Violet, Ellen and Marie, motored to Michel on Wednesday of last week to attend the wedding of her niece, Miss Lena Stevenson.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Regar paid a flying visit to Calgary over the week end. Miss Pat Regar, who has been spending several weeks visiting with relatives in Calgary, returned with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Tucker and small children motored to Lethbridge and back over the week end. Mrs. Tucker, senior, accompanied them on their return trip to Corbin.

Master Jack Allen, who has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Regar for the past few weeks, returned to Calgary over the week end.

Mrs. Rowan, of Calgary, accompanied by her small son, is renewing acquaintances in Corbin.

Mr. Pete Kacholaba and bride returned from Saskatchewan early in the week.

Corbinites have been privileged during the week to hear two widely known politicians. The first, Senator King, visited the town on Wednesday night, July 23rd. He spoke on behalf of Mr. F. G. Mont, the Liberal candidate for this constituency. The second, Mr. M. MacLean, the Conservative candidate, spoke on Friday night, the 25th. Mr. J. Maitland, M.L.A. for Vancouver, was also present to with great pleasure on Friday evening. Both candidates are able speakers and each dealt fair and square with his side of our national debate. A number of puzzling questions were cleared up to the satisfaction of the local citizens.

Mr. "Bubbie" Elliott is spending a few days at McBain's lake.

The Corbin baseball nine motored to Michel on Friday. While there, they defeated Michel to the tune of 16 to 7.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Joyce and family motored to Michel on Wednesday last, to attend the wedding of Miss Joyce's niece.

The best baseball game of the season was witnessed on Sunday afternoon at the local field, when the Corbin Miners met the p.k. of Michel. The game started fast and furious, with Michel making the first run. Corbin then came in with three runs. Michel took their turn with three more. Corbin came in with two more runs to finish the game, thus making a total of Corbin five and Michel four. Both sides gave a good exhibition of fast play, which was enjoyed by the crowd of fans who lined the banks of the field. The hat was passed around and over seventeen dollars was collected, thus showing the patriotic appreciation of the onlookers.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sench have returned home from a motor trip to Saskatchewan, where they spent their holidays.

VACATION SCHOOL

A staff of seventeen teachers and handicraft instructor has been having a busy time during the last two weeks at the Vacation School.

Attendance has been beyond all expectations, the daily average being 140, compared with an average of 72 the first year and 76 last year.

The handicraft done by the junior group, age 10 years and over, is a much more expensive type than any before attempted. Articles made are useful and valuable, the quality of work is greatly improved.

The public are invited to the closing exercises and exhibit of work done, to be held on Friday, August 1st, at 7:15 p.m., in the United church. If you want to know what Vacation School is accomplishing attend the closing exercises.

Relatives of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Regar are spending their vacation here.

The World's Grain Exhibition

The World's Poultry Congress is now in progress at the Crystal Palace, London, England, including a representative display of birds from Canada and with prominent Canadians identified with the poultry industry in attendance. A year or two ago Canada was honored by being host to the World's Poultry Congress, held in Ottawa, and which proved to be the most successful of these world's congresses held up to that time. Canada received most valuable publicity as a result, while the poultry industry throughout the Dominion was decidedly benefited thereby.

Canada is again to be host to a world's exhibition and conference in 1932, when the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference will be held in the city of Regina, Saskatchewan. It will be the greatest grain exhibition and conference ever held, with over $200,000 in cash prizes, an unprecedented sum, to be awarded, while grain experts from all over the world will be in attendance to participate in the conference.

Already the response of countries in every hemisphere has surpassed expectations. To date nearly one million copies of the official prize list have been distributed in 84 countries. They have been placed where they will do the most good, and give a maximum of advertising to Canada, and Western Canada in particular, in every corner of the civilized world.

Canada as a country dependent on agriculture, and suffering all the growing pains of the young, needs this advertising, and even supposing no person from outside Canada attended the Exhibition and Conference at Regina, in 1932, the world-wide advertising already secured would be an ample return for all monies expended to date.

But the countries of the world will be represented, not only by interesting and instructive exhibits, but by leading agricultural experts. The Government of Canada officially issued invitations to other countries to participate and today—two years before the event—eight countries have accepted. These are Peru, New Zealand, Guatemala, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Belgium and the Netherlands. The Governments of other countries, such as the United States, Great Britain, France, the Argentine, Australia, have asked for further and more complete information, and by 1932 it is expected at least 50 countries will have accepted the invitation and be present.

The management of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference has taken advantage of the World's Poultry Congress, in London, England, this month to further its campaign for world-wide participation at Regina in 1932, and has sent an exhibit to London, and this week are entertaining, in London, the official delegates of 50 countries. At this luncheon the managing director of the World's Grain Exhibition will address these delegates and outline to them why they should participate at Regina. Afterwards he will visit the ministries of agriculture, of the countries of Europe, to drive that message home.

Exhibits of the World's Grain Exhibition are also being prepared for the Canadian National Exhibition, and the Royal Winter Fair, at Toronto, and the International Grain Show at Chicago.

This is what is being done to bring the world to Western Canada in 1932. But, and this is important, Western Canada must put forth every effort to retain for this country the world's championship wheat trophy. Other countries are going to try and capture it; we are asking, even urging them, to make the attempt. Western Canada must therefore look to its laurels. The wheat farmers of Western Canada—the best in the world—must be alert and put forth their best efforts, individually and collectively, to retain for this Dominion the proud title of the World's Wheat King.

Now is the time to prepare for the exhibition. It cannot be put off until 1932. It must be done in 1930 and 1931.

To Cope With Cancer

War-Time Mustard Gas Now Used For This Purpose

Use of war-time mustard gas in combating cancer is described in the annual report of the grand council for the British Empire cancer campaign.

The report said, "Mustard gas seems to be the first true anti-carcinogenic agent ever discovered." Action of the gases was explained as being localized to the particular area under treatment and its cure to be strictly limited in time. But none the less on that account a remarkable cure."

Baker Lake

According to the records of the Geographic Board of Canada, Baker Lake was so called in 1762 by Capt. Christopher of the ship "Churchill," who discovered the lake on ascending Chesterfield inlet from Hudson Bay in that year.

Archbishop Opposed To Death Penalty

Says It Lowers Conception Of Sanctity Of Life

The Most Rev. William Temple, Archbishop of York, is one of the few witnesses who has come so far before the Royal Commission on punishments to favor the abolition of the death penalty.

"I dissent from the view that punishment should be regarded as regulated vengeance," the Archbishop stated. "From a Christian viewpoint, vengeance is entirely illegitimate. The infliction of death or outlawry would, perhaps, be justifiable in the case of a man who was wholly evil but no person was ever that."

The main argument advanced by the archbishop from a sociological viewpoint was that the behaviour of a community as a whole was so largely imitative that the reaction to the taking of life by the state tended to a lower general conception of the sanctity of human life.

Summer Complaints Kill Little Ones

At the first sign of illness during the hot weather give the little one Baby's Own Tablets or in a few hours he may be beyond aid. These Tablets will prevent summer complaints if given occasionally to the well child, and will promptly relieve these troubles if they come on suddenly. Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all druggists or by mail for 25 cents per box, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

May Purchase Canadian Land

Another English Peer Interested In Farming In Dominion

The possibilities of southern Saskatchewan for ranching on a large scale were investigated recently by Lord Middleton, Yorkshire landowner, who is touring Canada with a view to purchasing land in this country. Lord Middleton specializes in breeding beef cattle on his 3,000-acre farm in the north of England. He recently made the decision to dispose of the whole of his estates, comprising some thousands of acres, driven to this step by the excessive burden of taxation to which British landowners have been subjected since the war. It is his plan to take up land in Canada. He was an interested visitor at the Brandon Summer Fair, and in all the department he visited, those in charge were rather amazed at the knowledge he had of farm affairs and of horticulture. He brought over to Ontario some fifty Yorkshire lads, who will be placed on Ontario farms.

Father Of Many Inventions

Sir Charles Wheatstone Gave Many Scientific Ideas To World

The concertina celebrated its centenary by Charles Wheatstone's fifty-tenary last year. It was invented by Charles—Wheatstone, in 1829. He must have been a wonderful man, for his inventions seem to have been legion. Sir Charles invented, for example, the stereoscope, by which the appearance of solidity is obtained through the mental combination of two pictures, and the polar clock, which made it possible to tell the time by the light from the sky although the sun might be invisible. It was he who made the electric telegraph available for the public transmission of messages. And in between his scientific studies he sandwiched the invention of our little musical friend the concertina.

To Patrol the Straits

Government Ice-Breaker Is Leaving For Northern Waters

The new government ice-breaker, the "N. B. MacLean," is to take her maiden plunge into Arctic waters early in August. The ship, which was launched at Halifax a few months ago, is named after Major MacLean, the government's chief authority on ice and ice-breakers, who commanded the Hudson's Straits expedition two years ago.

The ships will take up supplies to four directional wireless stations established by the ministry of marine on Hudson Bay and manned by wireless operators of the radio branch. These stations are located at Cape Hope's Advance, Resolution Island, Nottingham Island and Fort Churchill.

The ice-breaker will patrol the straits all through the fall months and when the northern ice begins to close down will protect the shipping in Hudson's Bay and through the straits.

Plagues Britain

Franco-Italian Naval Conventions Will Help London Naval Treaty

Prime Minister MacDonald told the British House of Commons recently, that the British Government had learned with pleasure of arrangements made by the governments of France and Italy with a view of facilitating resumption of discussions on naval questions.

Mr. MacDonald said the British government hoped these Franco-Italian conversations would complete the work of the London Naval Conference and that the principles of naval limitation, as contained in part three of the London Naval Treaty, would be applied to all parties to the conference.

He said it was not necessary for the British Government to take any action in this connection regarding the British naval program of 1930 since this was purely for necessary replacements within the reduced tonnage limits imposed by the treaty.

Persian Balm—there is nothing like it for cooling and preserving a lovely complexion. Cooling, creasing—it soothes and dispels all roughness or chafe caused by weather conditions. Delicately fragrant, it adds exquisite charm to the most finished appearance. Daily women inevitably choose Persian Balm. A velvety smooth lotion, it makes the skin rose leaf in texture. Recommended also to soften and whiten the hands. Truly a peerless toilet requisite for every woman.

Centenary Of The Match

France is preparing to celebrate in 1931 the centenary of the phosphorus match. It was 99 years ago that a young student, Charles Saurel, of Dole, dipped slivers of wood into liquid phosphorus and was able to light the match by striking it on a file.

Railplane Has Been Tested

Torpedo-Shaped Coach Is Driven By Two Propellers

The world's first experimental railplane system, backed by the London and Northeastern Railway, has been inaugurated at Milngavie, Scotland. A torpedo-shaped coach driven by two aeroplane propellers, operating fore and aft, and drawing electrical power from the overhead rail to which it is suspended, flashed over an experimental stretch of track built above the main right-of-way of the London and Northeastern Railway.

It carried 25 passengers and is capable of developing a speed of 150 miles an hour on a long stretch of track, according to its designer, George Bennie, a Scottish engineer. The railplane is England's answer to the demand of the aeroplane age for speedier transportation. The new system was inspected by delegates to the Transport Congress, which met in Glasgow. If it wins their approval, plans for a railplane system between Blackpool and Southport, a distance of 25 miles, will be carried out. A railplane system can be built at one-third the cost of a double track railway system, say the London and Northeastern experts.

Each railplane coach will be self-propelled and will run alone. The overhead rail will direct the course and guide rails will keep it from swinging. The car is stopped by reversing the propellers, which then act as brakes.

The aerial railway can be erected over roads, canals or in the present instance, over railroads, without interfering with the ground traffic. Thus, in the case of railroads, a ground line could be used for freight, while the air line could be used for speedy passenger service and the carrying of mails.

Show Decided Increase

Progress Reported For Creameries All Over Alberta

Alberta creameries during the first four months of the year have shown an increase of 4.4 per cent over the corresponding period of 1929, and 35 per cent above the same period of 1928. Creameries in the south of the province showed an increase of 1 per cent, those in the central part a similar increase, and those in the northern zone a 19 per cent increase.

Artificial Wool

Artificial Sheep Will Grow Wool Indefinitely, Say Scientists

That artificial sheep will grow real wool indefinitely is the prediction of the British Research Association for the Woolen and Worsted Industry following recent experiments in the hair growth of animals. By merely slicing off pieces of live sheepskin and placing them in vats containing a certain chemical solution, the pieces may be continuously nourished and thus produce hair year in and year out. Cowhide also might be treated in the same way, say the association's chemists.

Morning Eggs Weigh More

Tests Show Them Heavier Than Those Laid In Afternoon

Tests conducted on different chicken farms by C. Howard King, poultry supervisor of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture and Markets, revealed that eggs laid in the forenoon weigh 24.115 ounces a dozen while those laid in the afternoon averaged only 23.535 ounces, according to a report from Madison, Wisconsin. This suggests another problem for commercial egg producers—how to make hens lay in the forenoon—and bigger eggs.
